Achmea hosts Capital Markets Day 2018 in Leiden

Leiden – Achmea hosts its annual Capital Markets Day today. Willem van Duin, Chairman of the Executive Board, starts the day with a presentation on the strategy of the group until 2020, called 'Delivering Together'. Thereafter, a presentation on Customer Engagement and Innovation is given by Robert Otto, member of the Executive Board. In the final presentation Michel Lamie, Chief Financial Officer, elaborates on the development of the group's financial results, financial position and capital management.

The three presentation, will illustrate that Achmea is well on track with the realization of its strategy and financial ambitions until 2020. Central to our strategy are continued investments in the service to customers, innovation and the development of services in addition to our insurance propositions. With our multi-brand-strategy we are active across all distribution channels and we are market leader in the growing channels of bancassurance, direct and online. Our efficient and scalable IT-infrastructure also offers us opportunities for further international growth. With the execution of our strategy we contribute to a healthy, safe and future proof society.

As a cooperative insurer our solid financial position forms the foundation of all our activities. Both our operational result as well as our free capital generation develop positively, also as a result of earlier implemented improvement measures. In the interest of all our stakeholders, we aim to maintain our robust solvency position and expect to realize further growth of our results in all our segments.
